

PATRICIA LYNNE has taught writing, rhetoric, writing theory and pedagogy for many years. She has also served as Associate Director of the First-Year Writing Program and coordinator of the M.A. concentration in Composition and Rhetoric at North Carolina State University. She received her doctorate in 1997 from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, after finally giving in to her obsession with assessment.